

Tenants Tell Council Of Rent Boosting Here

Aldermen Held First Rent Profiteering Public Hearing Tuesday—Those Rent Payers Who are Fearful of Making Public Complaint Should File Written One With Aldermen—Two Tenants and One Landlady Heard at Session—Meet Again Thursday Evening.

Two rent payers accepted the invitation extended by the aldermen to meet with the common council Tuesday evening at the first public hearing on rent profiteering in Kingston and state their case. The aggrieved tenants were Frank Herd of No. 12 East O'Reilly street, and Mr. Duffy, who resides in the old Federation House at No. 88 Hasbrouck avenue. Mrs. Thomas J. Hickey of Broadway and O'Reilly street, who is Herd's landlady, was also present and said that she had been a year and a half trying to induce Herd to vacate her house.

After thoroughly discussing the matter the aldermen decided to meet again Thursday evening to discuss some other rent payers and also hear any aggrieved rent payer desiring to be heard. The council decided that any rent payer who was afraid to appear at the public hearing for fear that he would be promptly ejected by the landlord can file a written complaint with the alderman of his ward and with the city clerk and it will receive consideration without publicity.

The council chamber was well filled by interested residents when President Dittus called the council to order. A number of routine matters were first disposed of and then the council got down to business on the rent question.

Afraid of Landlord.
Alderman Martin when the rent question came up said that undoubtedly there were a number of rent payers who would be afraid if they appeared and spoke at the public hearing that they would receive word from the landlord to seek other quarters. For that reason he thought it a good idea if any rent payer felt aggrieved that they should write out the grievance and mail or hand it to the alderman of the ward and it would receive attention.

Ware the Mail Carrier.
"And if they write a complaint, they should be sure to place it in an envelope carefully sealed for the letter carrier reads every card," said Alderman Kullman.

The rent payer in making a written complaint should state the location of the house or apartment and the owner's name and the rent being demanded, and should sign his or her name to the complaint.

Attorney Merritt Speaks.
President Dittus said that every one who desired to speak would be given an opportunity to be heard, and asked those who desired to do so to hand their names to Deputy City Clerk Turner. Frank Herd of East O'Reilly street handed up his name to the clerk, and Attorney F. C. Merritt said that he would like to be heard.

What Merritt Believed.
Attorney Merritt was called upon to speak first by President Dittus and said that to his mind the chief fault of the present rent situation was with the tenants themselves for they had displayed great competition in seeking apartments. If a tenant rented an apartment for $25 and the landlord was satisfied along would come another would-be tenant who would offer the landlord $30 a month for the rooms. Then the landlord would think it over and decide that the rooms ought to bring him in $35 and he would get it.

The question of rental value is one that the assessor is making his assessment must take into consideration, but it was not the controlling factor. The assessor could not base the assessment entirely upon the income received in rent from the building.

It seemed to Mr. Merritt that the capacity of the landlord and the competition of the tenants together with the high cost of making any building repairs were the main reasons for the rent question in the city.

"There is no means of regulating the rent question by any statute you could pass here," said Mr. Merritt to the council. He said that he was not taking sides in the rent question but was entirely neutral. He said that he saw no way that the council could change the situation. It was the old problem of supply and demand which would ultimately adjust itself here as well as elsewhere. In closing he said that when he was in the produce business for a while and had to sell a bushel of beans to Jones, and Jones offered him only a $1 he either had to take it or let the beans rot on the ground. Wages were high and material was high, but it was up to the landlord and the prospective tenant to get together and amicably settle the question. The old supply and demand law would ultimately solve the entire question.

had been living in the Hickey house for four years and his rent had been boosted from $20 to $35 a month. "I think that is rent profiteering," said he "as it never rented for over $16 a month. If you can do anything to help me I will be thankful. Mr. Merritt was talking about selling a bushel of beans to Jones. You don't have to eat beans if you don't want to, but you have to have a roof over your head."

"Talking about matters adjusting themselves I got a 15 per cent reduction in wages and a 45 per cent boost in rent. That's cutting the dog's tail in two places. It now takes me two weeks to earn enough to pay the rent."

"Wants to Be Shown."
An insurance agent who did not give his name was given the privilege of the floor and said: "If you can prove to me you can do anything I will tell you something."

Not Showing Hand Yet.
Alderman Martin said that the aldermen were not showing their hand yet as they did not want to give the landlords an opportunity of preparing a defense. The council had taken up the rent question and would push it through to completion.

From $35 to $55.
"That there is rent profiteering in Kingston is known to every alderman. I know of a case on Clinton avenue," continued Alderman Martin "and later I will make public the name. The property was bought for $2,700 and the former tenants had been paying $35 a month rent. Today the owner of the property is demanding and receiving $55 a month. If that is not profiteering I would like to know what is."

"Not All Greedy."
"Not all landlords are greedy and profiteering," said Alderman Martin, "and we must protect the decent landlord and the poor rent payer. I know of a barber uptown who has just been raised $25 a month in his rent. There are landlords in Kingston who realize that they only have about one more year to fleece the tenant and believe me they are squeezing them for all they are worth."

Maccholdt Raps Merritt.
"From the tone of Mr. Merritt's speech," said Alderman Maccholdt, "he has got everybody here disgusted. He comes here and tells us we can't do anything about the assessment this year as they were made months ago, but we know all that before he told us. What we can do is go ahead with these hearings and develop some plan to curb the profiteering landlord. Conditions here are a disgrace. Some say there are darn few landlords who are profiteering but I want to tell you there are darn few who don't."

"I know of one case on O'Reilly street where the landlord sold the property to another without the tenant down stairs knowing the house had been sold, and then the former owner and the new owner each tried to collect the rent from the tenant. If that is not profiteering I don't know what is. If some of these people here tonight would get up and tell us something about the rent question, I want to tell you that it is the rent payers of Kingston who are paying the taxes, not the landlords. Mr. Merritt is trying to discourage the rent payer by saying that high rents are due to the high wages, but I want to tell you that is why the man is striking in Kingston and throughout the country because they are getting a cut in wages."

Merritt Denied Implication.
"Mr. Merritt is here taking the landlord's side when he says that high rents are due to the high cost of wages and material to make repairs," I did not say that," interrupted Mr. Merritt.
"Yes, you did," retorted Alderman Maccholdt, "and I will leave it to any one in the room if you didn't say it."
"Sure he did,"
"That's what he said,"
These were a few of the remarks hurled at Mr. Merritt's head by the spectators while others seized the opportunity to applaud Alderman Maccholdt.

Duffy Tells His Story.
Mr. Duffy, who said he resided in the old Federation House at No. 88 Hasbrouck avenue, was the next rent payer to be heard from. He said that he had been paying $26 a month and the landlady now wanted $25 a month.

"When I moved in the house," said Mr. Duffy "she told me she would furnish the heat and last winter I burned more coal than she did. Then the other day she raised the rent $5 a month. I offered her $20 and she refused it and gave me this paper."

Herd Has $10 Boost.
Frank Herd, who said he resided in the house owned by Mrs. T. J. Hickey at No. 12 East O'Reilly street, had been living in the Hickey house for four years and his rent had been boosted from $20 to $35 a month.

SOFT COAL MEN TO REOPEN MINES

Will Offer in Western Pennsylvania War Time Scale of 1917 But Refuse to Collect Union Dues.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Pittsburgh, July 19.—The Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association, after an executive session today, announced that they would reopen the bituminous coal mines in western Pennsylvania "to the fullest extent possible," in accordance with the invitation extended by President Harding to do so.

It was announced that the miners would be offered the old war-time scale prevailing in November, 1917. The operators declared their determination to stand pat for the abolition of the check-off system and it was said that if the miners accepted the terms agreed on today, they would have to do so with the check-off eliminated entirely. This feature has been the biggest bone of contention between the operators and miners ever since the trouble began.

A formal statement setting forth in detail the policy of the association will be issued later in the day.

MINERS POINT TO ANOTHER CARD

If Strike Breakers Are Used Union Engineers and Pumpers Will Quit—If Not Promptly Replaced Rule Of Mines May Result.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 19.—Ten thousand and union maintenance miners, now engaged as stationary engineers and pumpers in the idle mines in order to prevent the ruin of the mines, will immediately desert their posts leaving the mines to the mercy of the flood waters if strike breakers are employed by the operators. It was declared at United Mine Workers' headquarters here today.

When the miners went out on strike on April 1, they left guard groups behind them to safeguard the coal mines against floodwaters, possible explosions due to collection of gas in pockets and against a variety of hazards.

Great difficulty, it was declared by miners' leaders, would be experienced by operators who try to replace striking stationary engineers, due to the operation of state statutes in Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois, providing that all stationary engineers must have state licenses. Two years' experience in the mines is the requisite for such a license, the miners said.

"There will be no defections from the ranks of the union miners," John L. Lewis declared. "It is absurd to think the United Mine Workers are going to fight the United States army," he said in commenting upon the message sent by President Harding to the governors of states.

"It is well to remember that every union miner who wanted to return to the mines, was free to do so for sixteen weeks of the strike. The action of the Federal Government as expressed in the statement of President Harding is merely a gesture which will not produce coal in any substantial quantity."

"We are ready now, as we have been since last December, to join in any constructive move for an adjustment of this situation."

Miners' spokesmen pointed out today that a very strong factor favoring the miners is the existence of state statutes in Indiana and Illinois prohibiting any mine from working at the face of coal who has not secured a license from the state after examination and proof that he has served two years as an apprentice to a certified miner.

Failure on the part of operators to observe these statutes, miners' spokesmen stated today, would bring a protest from the Mine Workers' and a demand that the state prosecute the operators.

TRADE COMMISSION FINDS FRAUD IN OIL STOCK

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 19.—The federal trade commission today ordered S. E. J. Cox and his wife, N. E. Cox of Houston, Texas, to discontinue "false representations in connection with the sale of stocks and securities" of the Prudential Oil Refining Company, the Prudential Security Oil Company and the General Oil Company.

Eleven hundred, the commission set forth, "were probably misled and deceived in the purchase of several companies promoted and controlled by Mr. and Mrs. Cox."

Crompton, R. I., July 19.—The entire village of Crompton was aroused shortly after midnight by a terrific explosion on New London avenue, near the home of Edward Hawkins, a former striker, who had returned to work in the Crompton Velvet & Corduroy Mill. Although many windows in the vicinity were shattered by the blast, no one was injured. State and military authorities are investigating.

COAL OPERATORS IN DEFINITE SPLIT

Most of Them Leave Washington to Reopen Mines but Minority Form Organization to Stay and Treat With Union Leaders.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 19.—The deep shade of indigo blue that has enshrouded official Washington for the last two weeks in its unsuccessful efforts to grapple with the twin industrial menaces presented by the coal and rail strikes, was penetrated today by a few sunshiny rays of optimism.

On top of hopeful messages from Chicago that the rail strike is yielding steadily to settlement, it became known here that tentative peace feelers have passed between the warring camps of miners and operators in Washington.

Cabinet officials in touch with all sides of the industrial turmoil described the situation as "still tense, but hopeful."

The eleven-hour move toward peace originated, it is understood, on the part of a considerable number of operators who are privately pessimistic over the prospects of mining coal with volunteer workers even under the protection of federal and state troops. They are operators, also, who have always dealt with the United Mine Workers, whose districts are strongly organized, and who, from the first, have favored a conciliatory policy toward the union.

Messages have passed between them and union officials remaining in Washington, and it is understood that John L. Lewis, head of the mine workers, sent back word that so far as the union is concerned, it is solely a question of tonnage, i. e., if sufficient tonnage is represented by those operators favoring peaceful settlement, then the miners are willing to talk business.

The operators who are directing the peace feelers have begun a careful canvass to determine how much tonnage they can secure in favor of holding a joint conference with the miners to seek a new national agreement.

The operators are badly split on the proposition, as they have been in virtually all their conferences in Washington—some being outright in favor of negotiating a new national agreement and others being insistent upon the "iron hand" at this time, when chances apparently are better than ever for breaking the strong grip the United Mine Workers has maintained on this industry for years.

Most of the operators departed for their homes today to survey their districts, although not before the split between the two factions had been more clearly emphasized.

An organization was formed called the "Majority" for Peace Policy Committee, representing those operators who favored unconditional acceptance of President Harding's arbitration proposal, who, in a general way, are desirous of speeding peace. This organization will continue informal peace talk with the miners.

Spokesmen for both sides declined to discuss the peace venture today in any detail. It was "too early," they said. It was marked, however, that union officials and a number of operators remained over in Washington.

The administration is not a party to this new thrust at peace, according to cabinet officers.

While the government looks approvingly on anything that will tend to bring an end to the present bitter, acrid situation, it was made plain today that so far as the president is concerned the die has been cast in the coal strike.

Production has been ordered resumed under a guarantee of Federal troop protection if needed, and the burden of responsibility has been shared temporarily at least, with the governors of the 23 states to whom President Harding addressed his appeal for help and pledge of aid.

Until the governors and the operators who do business in their respective states demonstrate whether they can mine coal in sufficient quantities to keep the nation's wheels moving, the government is going to "sit tight" and be prepared for any emergency, it was said.

President Harding set no time limit for the experiment of mining on an open shop basis under troop protection, but it was predicted in White House circles that the chief executive will not long delay the next step in the government's policy if it is demonstrated that the volunteer mining scheme is not producing the coal. The next step is for the government itself to take over the mines and operate them as government institutions.

STRIKE AFFECTS EXPRESS SERVICE

No Embargo Yet but Perishable Goods Will Be Accepted Only at Owner's Risk.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 19.—Perishable goods will be accepted for shipment only at the owner's risk henceforth, by the American Railway Express, officials said today. The action was taken, it was announced, because of the exigencies of the railroad strike. The officials indicated that the decision was not to be interpreted as an embargo on perishable goods.

NO UNION FOR CORNELL SHOPS

The machinists of the Cornell Shops on the Strand who quit work on Saturday when requested to do so by the Delaware railroad repair plant, while the strikers were striking, met with the striking shopmen at Menster's Hall Tuesday evening when the matter of forming a local machinists' union was talked over with the Cornell shop machinists. The Cornell men, however, decided not to organize a union, and turned down the proposition. So far the places of the machinists have not been filled and the work at the shops has been crippled. All of the repair work on the fleet of tugs of the Cornell Steamboat Company is done at the shop here.

PERMANENT INVESTORS OVERSUBSCRIBED BONDS

More than 107,000 persons applied for shares of the New York Telephone Company's issue of $25,000,000 par value 6 1/2 per cent cumulative preferred stock, according to an announcement today by J. S. McCulloch, commercial vice-president of the company. Of these, 101,756 applications were filed on June 29th. At 5 p. m. on that date the company was compelled to decline further applications as the stock already applied for largely exceeded the authorized issue.

The total applications represented about $82,500,000 or more than three times the amount of the issue. The applications received on June 29th represented about $80,000,000. In his statement Mr. McCulloch said that the completed summary of the applications showed that the company's offer appealed particularly to men and women seeking a permanent investment.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Moscow, July 19.—The report of the murder of Nicolai Lenine, which apparently originated in Copenhagen, is untrue, it was established today by International News Service. M. Trackmen's Walkout Less Likely as Result of Board's Offer to Argo Hear Wage Controversies That Cannot Be Settled Between Men and Railroads.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, July 19.—The rail strike situation appeared today to have reached a stage of "watchful waiting." So far as surface indications are concerned, the past twenty-four hours have seen few developments of importance and each side of the controversy seems to have adopted a policy of waiting for the next move of the opposition.

Although no definite peace plan has been announced as the result of parleys held here during the present week, belief prevails that the course of the strike is tending toward an adjustment.

Some observers protested to see a doorway to peace in the promise held out by the United States Railway Labor Board that the Board will give consideration of revision of the wage scale right of way whenever such provisions are brought before it. The procedure will be for the unions to take up the question of wage scale revisions with the individual railroads. If no agreement is reached, the dispute will then be referred to the Labor Board.

It is this promise that is believed to have influenced the decision of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees to defer strike action.

A whether the shopmen who are on strike can reach a settlement of their grievance through this method, is doubtful, however, as the railroads have made it plain they will not deal with the strikers until they return to their jobs. The strikers declare they will not return until assured of full restoration of seniority rights. Several roads, it is understood, have refused to agree to this proposal.

The danger of a strike of maintenance of way men is believed to be remote. J. P. Grable, president of the Brotherhood, thus far has stood out strongly against a strike. Grable admits that about 20,000 trackmen have walked out on unauthorized strikes, but contends that the number, compared with a membership of 200,000, is negligible.

A meeting of the grand lodge of the Brotherhood, which was to have been held in Detroit tomorrow, has been postponed until Friday. This meeting is expected to determine finally the attitude of the Brotherhood toward the strike.

Water and light systems at the camp were put out of commission, and eight of the large pyramidal tents were washed away.

STRIKE APPARENTLY HELPS DAY LINE BOAT TRAFFIC

U. & D. Connections Not Delayed by Strike.

Since the beginning of the railroad strike, traffic on the Day Line steamers seems to have increased, more people preferring to travel by water than by rail. On Tuesday the boat from New York had an exceptionally large crowd for a week day with no holiday near at hand. Two or three hundred got off the boat at Kingston Point. A good many of these people were bound for the Catskill Mountains and as a result the Ulster and Delaware day boat train had nearly five cars filled with people.

The Ulster and Delaware train schedule has not been put out of business by the strike of its shopmen. The only thing which has made trains late has been the fact that nearly all the West Shore trains which connect with the Ulster and Delaware have been late.

MANY MATTERS BEFORE COUNCIL

In Addition to Discussing Bents Aldermen Talk Over Streets, Lights and Other Matters at Special Session on Tuesday.

John A. DuBois, who operates a bus line from Highland to Kingston, applied to the common council Tuesday evening for permission to change the route entering the city and use the new bridge instead of the Skilly-pot ferry. He also desired to eliminate the stop at the Strand terminal.

Attorney Lent, who appeared for Mr. DuBois, stated that for two weeks a careful tabulation had been made and during that time not a single passenger in the bus had gotten on the bus at the Strand terminal or gotten off the bus there, but all had desired to go to the central terminal.

Alderman Mann objected to the down town stop being eliminated, and on motion, Mr. DuBois was given permission to use the new bridge in entering the city instead of crossing on the ferry and to stop at both the Strand and the central Broadway terminals.

Object to Parking.

Alderman Beichert submitted a petition signed by all of the merchants of that side of Broadway between the railroad crossing and Cedar street on which the terminal is located. They stated that the parking of the busses there congested traffic and asked that the busses be made to park somewhere else until within ten minutes of leaving time at the terminal.

The matter was laid over to the Thursday evening meeting.

Tiger Wins Appeal.

A communication from City Judge Schirick brought out the fact that F. A. Tiger, a local taxi man, had won his appeal from a conviction in police court. He had been found guilty and fined for assault. His attorney, C. J. Planagan, appealed to County Judge Fowler, who sustained the appeal and reversed the judgment of conviction. That being so the city judge asked that a warrant be drawn for $10 and sent to Tiger, being the amount of the fine he had paid under protest. This was done.

City Hall Lockup.

Architect George Lowe, at the request of the supply committee, had made an investigation of the city hall lockup and submitted a report covering the changes he suggested. The cost of the proposed changes would cost about $2,000. The report was referred to the finance committee and the supply committee.

Busses Comply With Franchises. Chief of Police J. Allan Wood submitted a report on the bus question here and stated that all of the bus lines appeared to be complying with their franchises.

Motions and Resolutions.

The following resolutions were introduced by the aldermen: By Alderman Martin, that the city grade the block surrounded by Hurley and Van Deusen avenues and Howland and Quarry streets, as the block of ground had been sold and the new purchases expected to erect dwellings and the streets mentioned should be graded. Also that the owner would convey all rights to the streets to the city if the city in turn released all its rights in Rock street, between Rondout and Larch streets or Fourth avenue northerly. It was referred to the mayor and corporation counsel.

By Alderman Williams—That the mayor and corporation counsel be instructed not to release or sign any of the city's rights in Fourth avenue between the U. & D. railroad and the road from Third avenue to the extension of Fourth avenue northerly. This also was referred to the mayor and corporation counsel.

By Alderman Behrens, that incandescent light be placed on Glen street, to board public works.

By Alderman Kullmann, that Rogers street be repaired, to board public works.

By Alderman Macholdt, that weeds on Andrew street and Mary's avenue be cut, to board public works.

By Alderman Joy, that Hasbrouck avenue, between Meadow and East Union streets, be oiled, to board public works.

Alderman Joy, that concrete watering trough be substituted for the half barrel in front of School No. 3 on Chambers street, to board public works.

Alderman Joy, that sewer at East Union and Chambers streets be cleaned, to board public works.

Alderman Joy, that Meadow, East Union, Ann and East Pierpont streets be cleaned soon as possible, to board public works.

Alderman Cashman, that incandescent light be placed in front of 49 Foxhall avenue, to board public works.

The council then adjourned after considering the rent question which will be found elsewhere.

Lightning's Queer Trick.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

A SCOUT USES HIS EYE

Scout Harvey Snook of Troop 1, Moscow, Idaho, was out on his 14-mile hike as required for first class scout rank. In the course of his journey, when he was keeping "mentally awake" observing everything that was of interest, he perceived a cow running frantically up and down a field, some 80 rods to the right of his path. He climbed three fences to reach the distressed animal and on arrival discovered a calf drowning in the stream just below the pasture at the foot of a steep bank. The scout plunged down the bank, got the calf into shallow water, beyond danger of drowning. Then he ran to the farm house nearby where he found the owner of the cattle and helped him get the calf up the bank and into the barn.

In the same town, scouts discovered, within 30 minutes, a lost child for whom the police had searched in vain for five hours. The speedy discovery was due to the fact that a scout had observed a child answering the description and remembered precisely where he had seen the child.

EAGLE SCOUTS OF HAWAII

Scouts are no less active in Hawaii than in the United States. The accompanying cut shows sturdy specimens who are all Eagles, and have the distinction of being the first scouts of the Kilauea council to obtain this top notch rank. Reading from left to right in the top row, they are Ralph Johnson, Albert Duval and Theodore J. Dranga, all of Troop 1, Hilo. At the left is Paul Johnson of the same troop and at the right, Dyfrig Forbes of Troop 3.

SOME SCOUT GOOD TURNS

Here are a few good turns done by different individual scouts in a Pennsylvania town, reported anonymously:

1. A crippled girl slipped and fell getting off a street car. I helped her up and carried her basket home. Refused a tip.
2. Found a dollar and gave it to woman who lost it.
3. Saved a kitten from a mad dog.
4. Stopped a little boy on his sled from being run over by an auto. Helped push a crippled man home. He rides a tricycle, which he couldn't start on icy pavements.
6. Warned a man that a fellow was burglarizing his mill.

PRINCIPAL PRAISES SCOUTS

Henry M. Hart, principal of the Lewis and Clark high school of Spokane, Wash., recently issued the following statement:

"Boy scouts who come to the high school exhibit three predominating characteristics as a group: Ready perception, a sense of courtesy and willingness to assume the responsibility of student leadership. The Lewis and Clark boys who have had training in scoutdom exhibit a fearlessness, fearlessness and frankness that make for them friends. I am highly impressed with the value of this work for boys."

WIVES COME INTO GAME

Scout mother clubs are becoming numerous and effective throughout the country. From Germantown, Pa., comes the report of a new association whose membership is made up of the wives of scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters and officials of the district. The object of the auxiliary will be to further the interests of the newcomer in every possible way throughout the district.

DOINGS OF SCOUTS

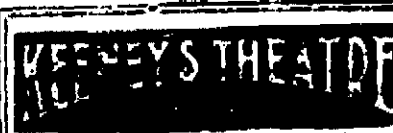

A curious case is reported from Kansas City, where Harry Solomon, a blacksmith arrested for abusing his wife while under the influence of drink, was paroled to his own son, a fourteen-year-old boy scout.

Fort Worth sea scouts are building their own sail boats, each of which will be capable of carrying ten passengers and 27 feet of canvas. The keel of the first vessel, the Merrimack, has already been laid, and that of her sister ship, the Pirate, will soon follow.

Magnified Trifles.

Trifles that amount to little are too frequently magnified and those which really should receive attention are ignored. This is because too many men and women lack ability properly to estimate the value of things. Ability to appraise is at a premium nowadays.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Dainty Gown for Home Wear. 3897.—There is much satisfaction in looking one's best at all times. For comfort and ease this style has much to commend it. The surplus sections form a giraffe that holds the fullness over sides and back. A slender or mature figure may wear this gown with equal grace. Challie in white with blue figures and white orlardy is here combined. One could use crepe, crepe de chine, lawn, or voile for this model. This pattern is cut in 4 sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 35-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. A medium size requires 6 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.

FREE STATES
USE AIRPLANES

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Dublin, July 19.—A squadron of battle planes is now assisting the advance of the Free State troops through southern Ireland. It was announced today. The aviators are chiefly for scout duty and to get the movements of the regulars.

Although outnumbered in many places, the regulars continue to push back the rebels all along the line. The Free Staters now hold the running through Newross, Kilmac, Nenagh and Thurles.

Civil life in Limerick is at a standstill as the result of the fighting in the city. Shipping is continuous. Buildings have been wrecked. Regulars are ravaging the country, burning barracks and commandeering supplies.

IN SALES OF
TREASURY CERTIFICATES

Since July 1, Postmaster DeWitt, chairman of government loan organization, this district, is agreeably surprised at the large number of purchases by Kingston people of the treasury certificates on sale at post office and stations. Kingston is well up in the front ranks of prosperous cities as more money has been invested since the first of the month than in all the other six previous months in these classes of investments. One letter carrier, Harry Wheeler, sold two $1,000 certificates. This breaks all records since the last Victory Loan. Residents are asking their carriers about the Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt Treasury Securities, maturing in 5 years, @ 4 1/2 percent, compounded quarterly, redeemable at time on delivery to the secretary of the Treasury.

They are wonderfully safe investments as all are registered by Postmaster DeWitt and can be redeemed only by owner in person. If stolen or destroyed by fire or otherwise duplicate certificates are issued on affidavit and proof.

Saugerties Board Wants Bids.

Bids for the painting of the auditorium of the Saugerties high school building and also the painting of the Hill street school building, exterior, are wanted by the building committee of the Saugerties board of education. Send bids to D. Leslie Maxwell.

Lieutenant Leland S. Andrews, U. S. A., has been given permission by the Chief of the Army Air Service to attempt to fly across the United States, from Jacksonville, Fla., to San Diego, Cal., in one day. Early in May he made the first lap of the coast-to-coast trip, by flying from San Diego, Cal., to San Antonio, Tex., in eleven hours and thirty minutes. Lieutenant James H. Doolittle will make the flight with him as alternate pilot.

Bannon Installs Heating.
The L. F. Bannon Co. are installing a Dunham vapor steam heating system in the large St. Peter's Hall, Rosendale, and also in the residence of P. J. Halpin, James street, Rosendale. H. THE SQUARE-SHAPE SLEEVES

Of white crepe knit with its brilliant stripe of dandelion yellow, this charming frock should receive the approval of stylish women. Long, square-shaped sleeves are a favorite. The chapeau is of taffeta.

SOME CLEVER LINEN FROCKS

Fabric Featured in Garments for Young Girls; Chambray Also Interesting Material.

Linens are featured in frocks for children and young girls. One designed for a girl of twelve or fourteen years, is especially charming because of its color combination and interesting trimming. The dress was shown in a light, dull green piped in henna, and the blocks of embroidery on sleeves and skirt, both back and front, were done in several shades of green, dull red, yellow, and touches of black also appearing.

The dress is a perfectly straight, smock-like affair, and could be made by any home dressmaker. Any garments that are handmade or hand-embroidered must of necessity be expensive if bought ready-to-wear. The woman who is skillful with her needle is fortunate when handmade and hand-decorated garments are the vogue, because simplicity is almost always the dominant note in the designing of these garments, so that time and patience are her major requirements with a handsome and exclusive wardrobe as her reward.

Another little tailored linen frock, featured a straight front and back panel with little strap belts at either side, holding the dress in a trim and giving a slight side flare below the waistline. Plain, heavy linen in a dull blue was used for the frock, with pipings in rose. Blocks of embroidery on skirt and sleeves were multi-colored. The dress was a slipover, but the slight opening was at the back instead of the side front.

Brown chambray fashioned another dainty little frock, cuffs, collar and pockets were of white organdie embroidered in brown and red wool yarn. The pockets were rick-crossed all over, while a mere line of embroidery finished collar and cuffs.

SIMPLE LINES FOR DRESSES

Little Frock That Features Smocking at the Waist and Yoke Appeals to All.

The youthful frock, developed on lines of simplicity, gives marked prominence to novelty fabrics as a rule. Both novel and wearable materials—those that will appeal to "mother" from the standpoint of wearability and to the child on account of their attractiveness—are seen in a simple little frock that features smocking at the waist and yoke from which the fullness of the dress is derived.

One New York firm has had particular success with imported voile this season, voile so sheer and silky as to closely ally it with georgette. Bright colorines, such as orange, rose and green, are among the favored shades while pale yellow and white assume a hand-made appearance with their tuckings and frillings to embellish the skirt, neck and sleeves.

Marvel silk, one of the pongee family, though with more advantages in the way of being immune to water spots, has found a ready market. It is stated, and is very comfortable for the afternoons in the little smocked effect dress with bright silk floss stitching. In a natural coloring or dyed shades a choice can be made.

For ready turnover, the frock of ratine has proved particularly successful, printed in large block designs of gingham colorines. Circular lines, rather than fullness, are well suited to this dress, on account of the weight of the fabric. Another little style, much in favor, is a tissue gingham, a material of gingham simulation, but not of finer weave.

Hat Trimmings.

Wool embroidery continues to be the vogue. A black hat of rather large brim was decorated with a life-size parrot in gay colors. It was embroidered on the left side of the crown to partly decorate both crown and brim. Just simple tassels are seen on many sport hats. A tassel of white wool is allowed to fall off the left side of the brim of a bright red or green straw. White wool grapes decorate silk or straw hats of the flat, blousy new style.

The Difference.

"The main difference 'twixt me and my boy Jim," explained the farmer, "is that when I put in a day at work I don't feel like running 'round nights, and when Jim puts in a night running 'round he don't feel like working days."

LOST BY GREAT MISSIONARY?

"Lorraine" Crosses Recently Found in Michigan Believed to Have Belonged to Father Marquette.

Not long ago, writes a contributor to the Youth's Companion, some schoolboys of Delta county, Michigan, who were gathering acorns at recess from a large tree on a hill near the Escanaba river, found some valuable relics that date from the time of Father Marquette.

The boys had climbed the tree and shaken the acorns off. While they were picking them up a large one rolled under a sod. One of the boys pulled up the sod and disclosed four crosses, tarnished with age. Each was standing upright, and the tops, which have rings in them, were close together as if they had once hung from a string. The peculiar shape of the crosses roused the boys' curiosity, and they took them to their teacher, who scoured them and found that they were of solid silver.

They are of different sizes. The largest is six inches long and four inches wide; the smallest is four inches by two inches. All four crosses are elaborately engraved; except for the initials "R. C." the engraving on each is different from any on the rest. The workmanship shows the crosses to be handmade. But, unlike the ordinary cross, they have two horizontal bars. The upper bar, which is shorter than the other, represents the "title" that Pilate ordered to be placed above the head of the Savior. The double-barred cross has several names. It is called the Lorraine, or Jerusalem, cross, because Godfrey de Bouillon, duke of Lorraine, whom the crusaders chose as the first Christian ruler of Jerusalem, adopted it as his symbol. It is called also the archiepiscopal, or patriarchal, cross, because in the Roman Catholic church it marked the rank of cardinals, archbishops and patriarchs. Cardinal Richelieu, as archbishop of Lyon, always wore it.

How did these four double-barred crosses ever come into this country? Cardinal Richelieu's niece, the duchess d'Aiguillon, was much interested in the missions in New France. She made many gifts to the missionaries, among which were some crosses that were to be given to the Indian chiefs as rewards for good conduct and zeal for the faith and for other meritorious things. In honor of her uncle, the cardinal, the duchess had the crosses made with two bars.

There were several missionaries who received the crosses, but Father Marquette was the only one who traversed the region in which the boys made their discovery. It is likely, therefore, that he himself lost them; since the four were together, it is not probable that Indians lost them.

Majority and Plurality.

A candidate in an election receives a plurality of votes when he obtains more than any other candidate, and he receives a majority of votes when his total is more than all others. The plurality is thus the excess of votes received by any one candidate over those received by the candidate having the next highest number of votes, while the majority is the excess of votes received by the candidate having the highest number over those received by all the others together. Thus when a candidate for office, out of, say 10,000 votes, receive 4,000, and two other candidates receive respectively 3,500 and 2,500, the first is elected by a plurality, though he has received less than a majority of the whole vote, and he is said to have a plurality of 500 votes, the difference between 4,000 and 3,500.

The Tabard Inn.

The Tabard Inn was the best known of the historic inns of old London. For it was thence that Chaucer's pilgrims set out in showery April for the shrine of St. Thomas a Becket at Canterbury. It stood not far from the borough end of London bridge in High street, Southwark, convenient to the head of the Old Kent road. How old it was there is none can say, but it was certainly there in the fourteenth century under that name. In the repair of the damage it sustained in the great fire its signboard was through lack of comprehension of an obsolescent name changed from the Tabard, or sleeveless jacket then and now retained only as the uniform of the heralds, to the Talbot of practically similar sound the name of a dog which seems to have been the progenitor of the bloodhound. As the Talbot it endured until 1836, when it was torn down to make room for the freight station of the Midland railway.

Anesthetics Not New.

The artificial induction of painlessness by narcotic draughts was traditionally known in ancient times, writes Dr. Charles Ballance in the London Lancet. The Chinese were acquainted with general anesthesia thousands of years ago. It is related of the surgeon Hua-ho in the Third century A. D. that he performed amputation, trephining and other major operations by his aid. Dr. Browne relates two cases of anesthesia taken from a Persian manuscript. The first story concerns Aristotle and an Indian surgeon named Sarnah. An eagle had entered the patient's ear and attached itself to the brain. Aristotle gave the patient a drug so that he became unconscious while Sarnah trephined the skull. This was excellent treatment. It is now well known that living foreign bodies may produce otitis and meningitis. In the second case the operation was Caesarian section.

Here is an ingenious machine that smokes four cigars at a time and can tell the difference between various kinds of tobacco. The cigars must be tested, and there are too many for a man to do the job, so this machine was built. Currents of air are sucked through the glass tubes, at about the human rate of speed. The ash from the cigar is then given to the chemist to analyze. This instrument is owned by the Department of Agriculture.

TAXI DRIVERS' DAY IN COURT

Two Were Arrested for Solliciting in Kingston Point Park—One Taxi
Driver Arrested for Speeding—
Other Cases in Police Court.

Louis Weinstein, a local taxi driver, was arrested Tuesday by John Q. Smith, superintendent of Kingston Point Park, on a charge of soliciting trade in the park. Officer Hicks also arrested Sam Conlin, another taxi man on the same charge.

This morning in police court about a dozen taxi drivers were present to hear what disposition was made of the cases by Judge Schirick. It was brought out that the trolley road since it has resumed operating the park has removed the taxi stand established by the city the last few seasons.

Judge Schirick instructed Mr. Smith to get in touch with G. Burton Tebow of the trolley road and see if it could not be arranged to have the stand replaced. Until the question is finally settled the taxi drivers agreed not to solicit trade at the park.

The two taxi drivers arrested were discharged.

Sam Feldman, another taxi driver, arrested for speeding 36 miles an hour, contributed $5 to the city treasury.

Garrison Sanford of Paterson, N. J., Joseph C. Hanford of the same place, and Charles Kiseel of New York city, were all arrested for speeding Tuesday, and each one forfeited $10 cash bail by failure to appear in court.

Aaron Goldenberg of New York city, arrested for speeding, gave bail for his appearance later.

ATTACKING MINERS DISPERSED BY SHERIFF

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Penna., July 19.—

Sheriff Otto Luellen and a detachment of state police today dispersed a mob of striking miners assembled a second time to attack the Wilson mine at Cokeburg Junction, this county. Some of the men were firing shots at the mine when the officers arrived. The sheriff induced the men to return home peacefully. The Wilson mine has started shipping coal and this aroused the idle union miners.

APPELLATE COURT UPHOLDS TAX ON BANK SHARES

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court on Saturday handed down a decision virtually upholding the section of the tax law providing for a tax of one per cent on all shares of National Banks. This means that the various counties of the state, if this decision is sustained by the highest court, will not be compelled to refund the large amounts which have in the past been paid to the county treasurers, under protest.

TENANTS TELL COUNCIL OF RENTS

and he extracted a paper from his pocket which he handed to Alderman Martin to peruse.

"She told me if I did not want to pay the $25 a month rent I could get out, but where am I going to get out to? I got until the 20th of this month to get out according to the paper she gave me."

Mr. Duffy's statements were supported by that of another tenant, a lady who did not give her name, and said she also lived in the Federation House and had had the same experience.

"Any Improvements? Why Sure."

"Are there any improvements in the Federation House?" asked President Dittus of Mr. Duffy. "I can't say there is," replied Duffy. "all I did was wash the paint off a little."

Write Your Complaint.

"Undoubtedly there are several others here tonight who would like to say something but are afraid that the landlord will order them out," said Alderman Martin, and he again called attention to the fact that any who desired could write their complaint. "And be sure and state only the facts and the truth," said he.

"Do I Have To Move?"

"Did I understand you to say that, 'I don't have to get out'?" asked Mr. Duffy of President Dittus at this juncture.

"No I have not got the authority to tell you to do that," replied President Dittus, "but I have not heard of a case of any one being put out on the street in Kingston."

"This paper served on him by his landlord was written by her and signed by her," said Alderman Martin who had been examining the paper handed him by Mr. Duffy.

"Only a Scrap of Paper."

"Is that so?" replied President Dittus and turning to Mr. Duffy he added "Don't notice that. Its only a piece of paper. I thought at first from what you said that it was a dispossession notice made out by the city judge. Just stick tight and you won't get put out."

Question For Merchants.

A Mr. DuBois who was given the privilege of the floor said he spoke not as a rent payer or as a landlord but from the general standpoint that the question had a more far reaching aspect than was generally realized. If a man had to work two weeks to pay his rent it meant that he would have to scrimp and save somewhere else and as a result the merchant would feel the effect of high rents. The merchants are the ones who should be interested in the solution of this question and it seems to me that if you hold any further meetings the merchants of the city should be sure to make it a point to attend.

"That's Right" Said Herd.

"That's right," agreed Frank Herd "for when a man pays all in rent he can't spend it with the merchants."

Mrs. Hickey Speaks.

"I am Mrs. T. J. Hickey, and I hope everyone can get a good look at me. My ancestors have been residents and taxpayers of Kingston since 1830, and now I am accused in public of being a rent profiteer. The Herds have the whole house to themselves. There are six rooms, steam heat, bath, electric lights and 120 feet of green grass about the house. Last year I was getting $25 a month rent for the house and last April I asked him to move but he has refused to do so.

"I ask him here and now if he will please give me possession of my property which I have been asking him for since last April I ask him to move now."

Macholdt's Plan.

"This is just one case," said Alderman Macholdt referring to the Herd case, and Mrs. Hickey says the house has 120 feet of green grass around it. He don't dare take up the grass and raise beans or he would be kicked out and so what good does this grass plot do him. He has six rooms and she is asking $25 a month for them. This does not show the proper American spirit.

"If I had the power and the right I would draft a law right here tonight fixing the rent of rooms at $4 a room. If this was done in this case all Herd would have to pay would be $24 a month. It's a shame that he has to pay such high rent for his wife and six children."

"Yes," interrupted Mr. Herd at this point, "and Mr. Duffy there did not tell you that all he was earning was $18 a week and that he had to support a big family on it."

"This is not justice," continued Alderman Macholdt, "and if I could pass a law that would be the law I would pass and I would do it at once. That is the one way to solve this rent question and solve it right."

May Stage Free For All.

"If we have many more public hearings," said Alderman Casman at this point, "we are going to hold a free for all between some landlords and tenants."

He said that he thought Martin's idea of having the aggrieved rent payers file written communications was a good one as he had several living in his ward who would meet him afterward and file complaints but who were afraid on account of the landlord to get up and talk at the public hearing.

Adjourned To Thursday.

There being no other rent payers who cared to speak in public the hearing was adjourned to Thursday evening when all rent payers will be heard who desire to be heard.

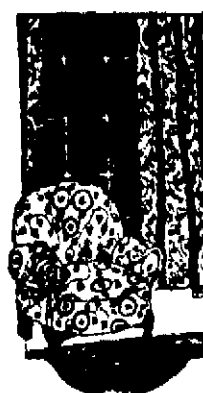

Other matters taken up Tuesday will be found elsewhere.

Bridge Guards Found Dead.

MILTON-MARLBOROUGH ROAD OPEN IN 2 WEEKS

Assault of Watchman Makes Apology.

That the state highway between Milton and Marlborough, which has been in the course of rebuilding for many weeks will be ready for the public within two weeks, was the interesting announcement made by A. C. Klisch, contractor in charge of the work. It will require two more days to complete the actual work of pouring the concrete, and it will take about 10 days more for the concrete to set.

In reference to a rumor that numerous automobiles, passing the barricade in Milton, and traveling over the recently poured road, had ruined its surface, Mr. Klisch denied that any damage had been done.

Many rumors of what took place at the barricade have been heard. What did happen according to Mr. Klisch, is as follows: A watchman, William Schmitzberger by name, had been placed to guard the entrance to the road at Milton. Sunday night, one tourist was specially insistent upon using road under repair. He is said to have become violent and to have kicked the watchman.

The river, whose name could not be learned, was arrested and was arraigned before a Milton justice of the peace. The prisoner regretted his part in the affair, and made a satisfactory apology, following which he was allowed to go.

All Stars Beat Columbia's Team.

Bill Brophy's All Stars had an easy time disposing of the Columbia baseball nine Tuesday evening at Hanbrouck Park by the score of 13 to 2. The game was called at the last half of the fifth inning. The battery for the All Stars was Brophy and Westfall, for the Columbia, Stanly and Coughlin. Brophy's airtight pitching had the Columbia men bewildered. Alderman Joy proved an efficient umpire. The All Stars are seeking games with any fast team in the city. Write or call the Manager, Brophy, Jacobson Shirt Factory, Cornell street, city.

Volume Savings Permit Greater Value

There are hundreds of parts in a motor car. Many companies buy all, some makers build a few, of the parts that go to make up a complete motor car. For every part they buy, a partsmaker's profit must be included in the final price.

Studebaker builds every vital part. Motors, bodies, axles, transmissions, frames, tops and other parts are designed and manufactured completely from raw material to finished product in Studebaker plants, under Studebaker control and inspection.

The savings, because of tremendous volume, give the buyer extraordinary value.

Complete manufacture also explains the uniform high quality that you get in a Studebaker car, whether it is a Light-Six, a Special-Six or a Big-Six.

And uniform high quality has made Studebaker cars known everywhere for their dependable performance in owners' use.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BIRTHDAY PARTIES

"It is my birthday and Mr. Moon's birthday," said Mr. Sun to the Fairy Princess Twilight-Bell. She was so named, you know, because she loved the twilight or time between daytime and night-time. And her voice was like a lovely silvery bell and so she had been named as she was.

"Ah," she said, "I wish you many happy returns of the day, Mr. Sun."

"Thank you," said Mr. Sun, "I believe I will have many returns of the day," he chuckled, "and they will be happy, too. Mr. Sun is a beaming, happy, bright old soul."

"I will sing you a little birthday poem in honor of your birthday," said the Fairy Princess Twilight-Bell. "Please excuse it if it is very poor for I am making it up as I sing."

"But my heart is full of love for you, even though my poetry does not half begin to express it."

"I will sing my birthday poem now," said the Fairy Princess Twilight-Bell. So the Fairy Princess Twilight-Bell began to sing in her lovely voice:

"Mr. Sun, you are so bright, Mr. Sun, you give us light. Mr. Sun, we love you so, And like to feel your warmth below. Down on the earth where we all are, Away from Mr. Sun so far. But you look down on us and shine, So we away will never pine. For we have Mr. Sun so dear, Most every day to give us cheer. So many happy returns of the day To Mr. Sun is what I say."

"Ah," said Mr. Sun, "that does me good. It's fine to get such birthday greetings. You see I will tell you about my birthday and about Mr. Moon's, too."

"We're both so old that we have completely lost track of how old we are. That seems strange, I haven't a doubt, to children, who know the very day and week and month for their birthdays of every year."

"But we just celebrate our birthdays once in awhile. I have on my best red robe as you can see and my fairies are dressed in their glowing flame-colored cloud dresses to celebrate my birthday, too."

"Instead of having a cake we shine down on the water and on ponds and everywhere."

"I, with the help of my fairies, give a beautiful glow to the whole world on my birthday or to the parts of the world where I'm giving my celebration, to take the place of a birthday cake."

"You know how a birthday cake will be so lovely and shed such a beautiful glow over all the children gathered around it and how pretty it makes everything look with its lighted candles? So I'm trying to do the same on my birthday."

"It's not my real birthday perhaps—but it's just a day I celebrate to show I'm glad I am here and that I hope my friends are glad, too."

"And it is the same with Mr. Moon. He is going to wear his red gown this evening and he is wearing it because he can't have a birthday cake any more than I can."

"Well, I must be off to bed now. I had a fine time and I'm glad I'm here and I'm glad that you're glad, too, Fairy Princess Twilight-Bell. And thank you so much for your poem."

"Ah," she said, "how glad I am that this is my time of the day! Ah, there now is Mr. Moon in his red robe. I will sing him a birthday poem, too."

"Dear Mr. Moon, You're none too soon, For me to greet tonight. Your lovely light, Which is so bright, Gives me delight! Ah! greetings, Mr. Moon."

And Mr. Moon grinned a beautiful happy grin!

Safety First.
One snappy winter's day Johnny's mother sent him to the store to get half a dozen eggs. On his return he handed her a paper bag containing six articles, which, though egg-shaped, were certainly never laid by a hen.

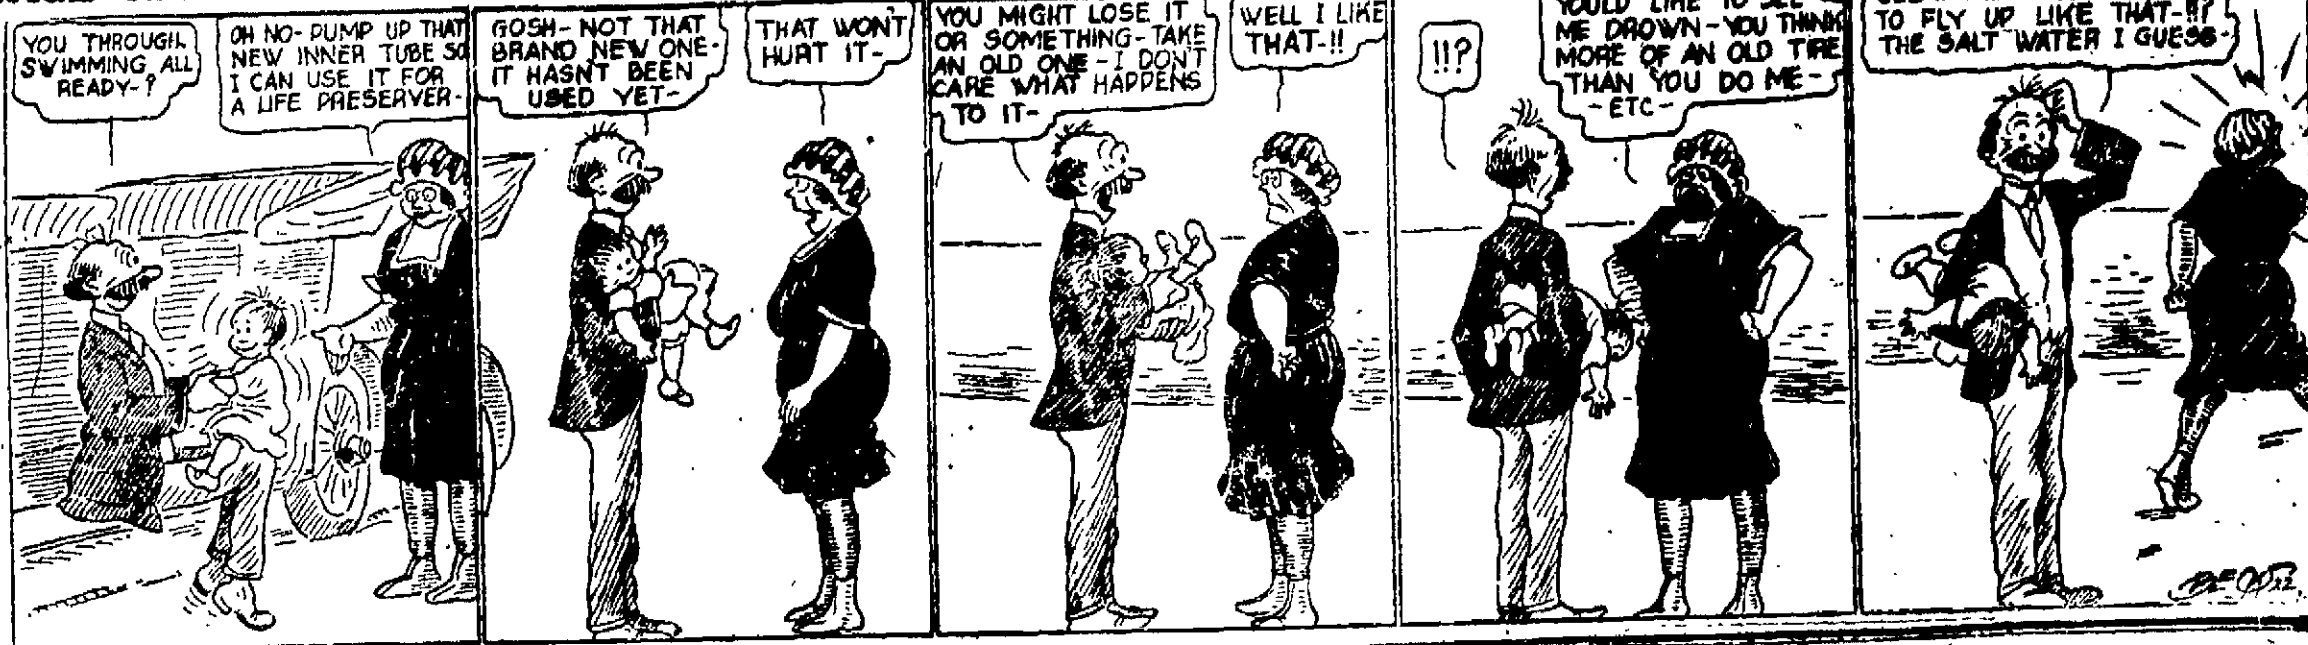

"What are these?" said his mother. "It was eggs I sent you for."

"Well, ma," said Johnny, "the streets were awful slippery, an' so I thought I'd better get lemons instead."—Boston Transcript.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Ten, and most fruit stains, may be removed by spreading the cloth over a bowl and pouring boiling water through the stain. The higher it is held when pouring the more force will strike the stain. If the stain will not respond, try sprinkling with borax and soaking in cold water; if this fails rub a little glycerin on the spot and soak it for a time in glycerin.

Iron rust will usually respond to lemon juice and salt. If placed in the strong sunlight or try salts of lemon, moisten and place in the sun; then be sure to wash out the spot to remove the acid.

ink, if fresh, may be removed by soaking the linen in sour milk. If the fabric cannot be so treated, apply dilute oxalic acid to the stain and rinse in water with ammonia in the water.

Tar—Kerosene is a good agent to remove tar, if fresh; then wash in soap and water. If the spot is dry, soften it first with a little lard well rubbed in, then wet with turpentine; scrape off the fat and rub again with turpentine.

Steel wool has been sold at ten cent stores for years and yet there are housewives who have never heard of it.

No. 0 steel wool is the best scouring agent for all kinds of kitchen utensils. It may be used, protecting the hand with a piece of paper, or held by pliers when a good deal of force is needed.

A fine table pad may be made of newspapers basted together; then cut to fit the table, having it one-fourth inch in thickness, cover with an old sheet and a pad that costs nothing will be made.

Use a white shellac over the tips of shoes or other places that have been skinned, then put on the shoe polish as usual.

Appliqued designs may be stuck on curtains with a little paste or glue. The result is effective and the work merely nothing compared to the time taken to fasten on by the needle method.

Find Omens in Chicken Bones.
Chickens' bones are the "Where-Is-It?" book of the Red Karen tribe in Burma. The Karen, according to the National Geographic Magazine, consult them to know where he should build his village or his house; whether he should start on a journey, and, if so, in what direction, on what day, and at what hour; whether he should marry a certain girl, and, if the omens approve, on what day he should do it; where he should make his hill-clearing, when he should prepare, sow and reap it; in fact, he does nothing without authority from fowls' bones. Like all their neighbors, the Red Karen are spirit-worshippers, and the names of their divinities seem to be much the same for all. Some of the spirits are bad, some indifferent and a few amiable. The malignant ones are maliciously worshipped with sacrifices, the others only at moments of expansive-ness, after surplus liquor has been consumed.

Japanese Ideas That "Persist."
Popular belief in Japan has it that if one employs the same road going to and from a funeral, the evil spirits, now acquainted with the route, would be inclined to lead another relative of the deceased to the graveyard. Young men only are employed to do these grafting in Japan, as it is the belief that they impart their life and vigor to the grafted parts. Educated Japanese say that these beliefs are not superstition; that the ideas just simply persist.

Palmistry Up-to-Date.
A Belgian fortune teller has adopted a modern method of palmistry. Those who wish to consult her are required to place their palms on a plaster mold, and from this imprint the seers forecast their character and future. The reading is dictated to a stenographer, typed, and mailed to the person interested.

Couldn't Fool Him.
The ventriloquist managed to scramble aboard the train as it was leaving the station in England. He had had no time to get a dog ticket for his terrier. When the cry: "All tickets ready!" was heard a few stations farther on, the ventriloquist dropped the dog into a hamper, which was labelled in bold characters, "Professor Jones, Ventriloquist." The conductor opened the door and the dog began to bark. Noting the label on the hamper, the conductor turned to the ventriloquist with a self-satisfied grin and said: "All right, mister! That's very clever; but you can't fool me! That trick's been played on me before!"

Teak Wood Highly Prized.
Burma, Siam and the northern provinces of India, together with the Dutch East Indies, contain practically all of the world's teak. Teak is one of the highest quality timbers in the world, ranking next to mahogany, ebony and lignum vitae. It is almost as supple as cane, almost as hard and tough as metal and is impervious to corrosion and animal life by reason of its natural vegetable oils and low grade acids.

Lavish Hindu Display.
The glories of the grand mogul when he reigned in Delhi are fact, not fable. There you may still see his palace with the Pearl mosque and the Diwan-i-Khas or Hall of Audience, the roof of which was once silver foliage, encrusted with gold, and valued by Tavernier, the French jeweler, at 27,000,000 francs. In Delhi, too, you would have found the Throne of the Two Peacocks, whose expanded tails were illuminated with sapphires, rubies, emeralds, pearls and other precious stones of appropriate colors; a throne of gold, based on six golden and jeweled feet. That India is a civilization that has never been in doubt—P. W. Wilson, in World's Work.

Lee Declined Command.
On April 18, 1861, President Lincoln, through Francis Preston Blair, tendered General Lee the command of the army of the United States, which was declined. Of this action Lee said: "I declined the offer he made me to take command of the army that was to be brought into the field, stating as candidly as I could, that though opposed to secession and deprecating war, I could take no part in the invasion of the southern states."

Solitude.
Though the most beautiful creature were available for me at the end of a journey or a walk, though the carpet were of silk, the curtains of morning clouds, the chairs and sofa stuffed with egyptian down, the window opening on Winander mere, I should not feel—or rather my happiness would not be so fine as my solitude is sublime. Then, instead of what I have described, there is a sublimity to welcome me home. The roar of the wind in my wife and the stars through the window frame are my children. I feel more and more every day, as my imagination strengthens, that I do not live in this world alone, but in a thousand worlds.—Keats.

The Scream of the Pipes.
It is claimed for the bagpipes, by some admirers that it is among the oldest of musical instruments. Whether or not the oldest, it is certainly the loudest of all instruments. The duke of Sutherland owns a bagpipe which figured at Prestonpans, and must, therefore, be nearly 200 years old, yet it can still be heard at a distance of eight miles.

"CITY OF KINGS"

Ancient Delhi Well Worthy of Pompous Appellation.

New Capital of India Has Long History Filled With Effort, Tragedy, and Wild Romance.

It has been said as Agra is the poet's city, so is Delhi the city of kings. And certainly there is a sense of pomp and glory that still lingers about the place, an atmosphere of vanished splendors that strikes even the winter tourist who wanders, guidebook in hand, around its mass of ruins and down its stately streets. Even so, as you should see Agra first in the soft, blurred twilight of the day, you should approach Delhi in the broad, brave light of early morning. Entering the town from the Meerut side, when the sun is mounting serenely in a pale, clear sky, making the broad Jumna sparkle freshly, throwing into clear relief the brown, vigorous dhobis who hang their white washing joyously upon the stones, rousing the red, glowing walls of the great fort to cheerful welcome, this is to see Delhi in its most vital aspect, a city of life and busy, worldly activity, always at the center of the history of every age. For, whatever may be said for or against the expensive and troublesome removal of the seat of government from Calcutta, it is at least historically fitting that this ancient town—always at the core of India's history, whether as Delhi, Indraprastha or Shahjahanabad—should now again become its capital.

The seven Delhis around—scattered in ruin now—represent—each of them—a chapter of history packed with effort, tragedy and romance. Never was a city more teeming with the sense of the press of life, of history inevitably made in the shadow of its red walls.

Like Rome, Delhi has two distinct pasts lying side by side. In Rome it is the ancient Roman civilization and the past of the Renaissance, in Delhi the old days of invading Mohammedan hordes and the period of unmitigated splendor inaugurated by the early Mughals. But unlike Rome, Delhi has always a background of primness to show to each bright picture, making the sensuous glory of it the more heartily bright. Therefore, after a cheerful, sunny morning spent among the gold embroideries, the ivories and silks and jewels of the broad and lovely Chandni Chauk—the finest street some say, in the world—or amidst the imperial, forgotten pomp of the red-walled fort, the quiet of the evening is the time above all others for wandering amidst the fragments of the ancient Delhis. The whole of the neighborhood is strewn with these remains, for although "the seven Delhis" is a picturesque enough term, in sober fact the cities that lie crumbled around the present capital of India number twelve or thirteen. True, of the original city of Indraprastha, built by the Pandava brothers, and said to have been on the site of the present village of Indrapur, no vestige remains. . . . Drive out a few miles and you will find Tughlakabad, built by the first sultan of the house of Tughlak. . . . Long and ponderous and grim, it lies, once so full of the life and bustle of a medieval court, now deserted by all save the wild peacocks, gorgeous as any courtier of old—who step daintily among its ruins.—Barbara W. Whitelock Stratford in "India and the English."

Chance for Grandpa.

On Memorial day an assorted pair watched the parade, an elderly business man and his little grandson. The latter amused everyone by his comments on things and his imitation of his grandfather. When his grandfather lifted his hat, the youngster did the same. And then looking at his grandfather said, "We're polite, aren't we, grandpa?"

Grandpa smiled and nodded. Then the little fellow saw the former service men in uniform and the Civil war veterans. He looked at his grandfather, sighed and asked, "Ain't it too bad, grandpa, we aren't soldiers?"

Grandpa sighed a genuine sigh. A long study and then the little fellow offered consolation. "I can be a boy scout pretty soon, grandpa," he said. "and when you get a little older, you'll be an 'Onward Christian Soldier!'"

This time grandpa didn't smile. His future didn't seem to suit him.—Indianapolis News.

Radio Station on Church Tower.

A radio broadcasting station with a constant-on-air radius and a story tower are novel features of the First Baptist church, of Shreveport, La., erected at a cost of $200,000, and used for the first time Sunday, April 9.

The structure, uniting a main building of four floors and the ten-story tower is large enough to accommodate 7,000 persons. Situated in the heart of Shreveport's business district, its tower dominates the city's skyline. Many small churches throughout the neighboring section have installed receiving outfits to take advantage of the offering of the Shreveport church. Several of them have no pastor, and are able to have sermons only one or two Sundays a month, but radio has now made possible for them the same opportunities offered members of city churches.

The Best Policy.

Lawyer—Now, be perfectly frank with me. Are you innocent or guilty? Client—I am guilty.

Lawyer—Ah, an honest man! I shall be able to acquit you.—American Legion Weekly.

What Makes Town Lively.

We'd rather go out and camp along some running stream, where at least the birds would affect some sign of friendliness and neighborliness, than hang out in a house located among people who have forgotten how to smile, and how to visit among each other as our forefathers did.

at last — an immediate relief from Whooping Cough

HOW many mothers have seen their youngsters tortured by those violent, body-racking paroxysms—those treacherous coughing spells that leave the tots frail, weakened and shattered? How many mothers have become discouraged during those long dreary weeks until it was over?

Modern science has put an end to their worries—it has brought forth its greatest triumph—SODERSEINE, a colorless, odorless and absolutely tasteless liquid that will definitely relieve the most violent coughing spell immediately and bring whooping cough to an end in a few days.

Absolutely harmless, SODERSEINE contains neither drug nor narcotic and can be given even to an infant with immediate relief as result. Highly endorsed and recommended by Boards of Health in many of the country's leading cities.

Four tablets or one full before each meal and before retiring. Get a bottle at your druggist at once—$2.75—refunded if results are not immediately effective.

The Alhambra.
The Alhambra, most beautiful of all the palaces in Spain, was built by a Moorish king in about 1260, but has been enlarged by several successors of this ruler. It is a marvel of lovely arches and mosaics, halls and corridors and courts, of which the court of Lions is the most known and admired. The hall of the Ambassadors is, supposedly, the square apartment in which Columbus presented his project to Ferdinand and Isabella.

Putting Mystery to Work.
Let no one argue that because the mind is still intangible—and probably always will be to mortal man—that psychology is impracticable, writes R. H. Pratt, Jr., in the World's Work. Electricity is an unknown quantity; no one knows whence it comes or whether it goes; yet it would be hard to find anything more practical than an electric fan on a sweltering day—to take one of the least and most homely of its uses. Although mysterious, electricity can be directed, its reactions predicted, and its power ascertained. The result is that the element is exceedingly useful.

Lost Her Nerve.
Walking with my small daughter, I passed a large tree loaded with mulberries. She is extremely fond of them, so I said to her: "I must pick this big, juicy one for you." I was about to suit action to the words, when I caught sight of a woman on the other side of the tree. She looked up, her face and said: "Go ahead." But I didn't—change.

Little things such as pictures, vases or dummies may mar the appearance of the home if too many are used or if they are not in harmony with their surroundings.

NEXT CONGRESS A DIFFERENT ONE

Unprecedented Number of Leaders From Both Houses Feel Voters' Bludgeoning and Uncertainty Still Exists.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 19.—The next congress is going to be a totally different institution from the one that is now perspiring, sweating and wrestling through the hot and sultry weeks of a Washington summer.

That much already is assured by developments to date, regardless of what the whimsical voter decides to do in November.

The leaders of the present congress, who have been attacked as leaders of other congresses seldom have been, are going. Some of them are already gone. Familiar figures around the legislative halls of congress for the last two decades will disappear after this session, and the frosty winds of November promise to bring a new deal all around at Capitol Hill.

Some of them have been out down in primaries already held, some will suffer the same fate in the primaries yet to come, others will in all probability feel the heat of popular displeasure in November, and still others have gone out via the retirement route.

Seldom has an off year in politics witnessed so many upsets and changes as this year. The best-laid plans have gone awry, long political shots have come home, and favorites have been beaten. And this is only July, with the primaries not half completed.

The house already is reflecting the changes. Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming, the Republican leader, who has seen twenty-six years' service, is retiring. He will try to come back to Washington, though in the senate. He will seek the Republican senatorial nomination in Wyoming on August 22. Should he be successful there he will have a stiff fight on his hands in November against John B. Kendrick, the sitting Democratic senator from Wyoming.

In some political quarters in Washington it is said that Mondell has little chance of beating a man of Kendrick's strength next fall, even should he get by the primaries, but Mondell thinks he has. Kendrick is a cattleman born and bred, and he has a big following in the state. He was elected governor in 1914 and served until he resigned to come to the senate in 1917.

Who will succeed Mondell as majority leader in the house is a question that already is causing considerable agitation—for it is assumed that the Republicans will retain control of the lower branch.

There are a number of candidates—James R. Mann of Illinois; Sidney Anderson of Minnesota; Martin B. Madden of the same state; Philip Campbell of Kansas; Joseph Walsh of Massachusetts, are a few of them—all this, of course, being contingent upon those named being re-elected.

Joseph W. Fordney of Michigan, chairman of the all-powerful ways and means committee, author of a tariff and a bonus bill at this session, is retiring, and this highly prized position will go to William R. Green of Iowa, unless Green should unexpectedly be defeated.

Fordney is retiring because he is tired of congress and of Washington. He has been in congress for twenty-four years consecutively; he is wealthy, he is 69, and he says he wants to spend some time with his family in his old age.

His friends say he is a disgusted and disappointed man after twenty-four years' service. His house bill is hung up in the senate, with its future uncertain; his tariff bill was rewritten in the senate, and its principal feature, the American valuation scheme, was eliminated entirely.

Many other members of the house, whose names figure less conspicuously in the day's news, will be missing in the session. Copley and Ireland of Illinois, two prominent members of the present house, with considerable service behind them, already have been defeated in the primaries.

Over on the Senate side the changes will be scarcely less conspicuous.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, the present Republican leader, will almost certainly resign, his friends say, now that Samuel W. McCall, his Republican opponent in Massachusetts, has decided not to contest the primaries with him.

Other changes, however, will be notable. Boies Penrose, the overshadowing figure at the start of this session, is no more, and his successor in the powerful chairmanship of the Finance Committee, Senator Porter J. McCumber, of North Dakota, fell in the primaries of North Dakota a few days ago—a victim of the Non-Partisan League, after twenty-four years' continuous service in the Senate.

The diminutive but commanding figure of Philander C. Knox also is gone. Senator Knox was an outstanding figure in the early part of the present session.

Senator Harry S. New of Indiana, recognized from the start of the session as an administration spokesman in the senate, likewise fell a victim to popular disapproval in the primaries, and in all probability Albert J. Beveridge will come to Washington as his successor.

The brilliant Kenyon, of Iowa, will be gone. He resigned to accept a Federal judgeship; and his successor, Senator Charles B. Rowan, did not try to succeed himself, in his place doubtless will come Smith W. Bookhart, proclaimed in advance as a legislator of the Follette type. The spectacular "Jim" Reed may be among the missing next session.

STATE CROPS IN BETTER SHAPE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, July 19.—Recent reports show that in this state the heavy rainfall of June helped more crops than it hurt and, taken as a whole, crops are in better shape here than they are in other parts of the country.

The Weather Bureau records show that the rainfall over the state during June averaged about 8 inches, an inch more than the highest previous June record and more than double the amount usually expected. This naturally caused a large amount of damage to crops on low-lying and poorly drained land, but on the better drained fields most crops made unusual growth.

According to John B. Shepard, who now has charge of estimating the crops of the state for both the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and the New York State Department of Farms and Markets, the hay crop, which was rather poor a month ago, now promises a yield of 10 per cent better than usual, timothy, clover and alfalfa all being unexpectedly heavy. Corn, winter wheat, oats, barley, rye, peas, cabbage and tomatoes were each from 1 to 6 per cent better on the first of the month than they have averaged on the corresponding date during the last ten years. Beans and late planted potatoes were in many cases hurt by the excessive moisture, but as the weather since the first of the month has been more favorable, they are now expected to produce about average yields. Onions, which are crown mostly on reclaimed swamp land, were quite seriously hurt. The fruit crops also are all better than usual, so when the reports from all crops are combined, it is estimated that, in proportion to the acreage planted, crops in this state will produce 8 per cent more than the average during the last ten years. In this respect, New York is exceptionally fortunate, for in the states south of Virginia and west of Ohio, crop prospects are on the whole rather poor, and in the country as a whole, crops average 2 per cent poorer than usual.

SEAGER, JULY 18.

Seager, July 18.—Jack Armstrong of New York city is spending a week with his brother, George Armstrong, in this place.

The Misses Irene and Evadne Todd returned Sunday to their work in New York after a vacation of two weeks with their parents in this place. Their sister, Martha, accompanied them and will enjoy a couple of weeks in the big city.

A dance was held at the home of Arnold Graham on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kittle and daughter, Beulah, enjoyed a motor trip to Kingston on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Orson Avery spent Sunday with relatives in Delhi. Miss Beulah Kittle is visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Everett, in Wallkill.

Insects Use Tools.

In intelligence the insect world ranks next to humankind. Two naturalists tell of seeing a wasp closing a hole in the ground leading to a food cache by tamping the earth with a small pebble it had seized in its mandibles. Heretofore man was supposed to be the only tool user. Out at Grays Harbor, Wash., bandit wild bees have invaded the tame hives and carried away the honey to their hives in the forest. They have stolen more than one-third of the domestic honey gathered in this district. Insect civilization seems right up-to-date.

Smallest Known Races.

The smallest known races are some negroes living among the other negroes of Central Africa; one tribe of whom, called Akkas, dwell on the west of Victoria Nyanza. The men and women of this tribe, who have been seen by many travelers, are four feet in height. They live by themselves, in separate communities.

He is having the fight of his life in the Democratic primary in Missouri against Breckinridge Long and, if successful in this fight, must win again in November in order to come back.

The volatile John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, last of the oldstyle Southern statesmen, will be missing. He is retiring of his own accord, after twenty-eight years of Congressional service, sixteen in the House and twelve in the Senate. There is a strong possibility that John Sharp may be succeeded by a woman from Mississippi, Miss Belle Kearney is seeking his seat, and according to reports in political circles in Washington, she stands a good chance of getting it.

There is regret at the passing of many of these prominent figures from Washington official life, but there is genuine, non-partisan sorrow over the retirement of "Uncle Joe" Cannon. "Uncle Joe" is rounding out forty-six years of service in the Lower House. He has passed his eighty-sixth year. He thinks he has had enough. He will be missed by the Democrats no less than by the Republicans; but perhaps the most of all visitors who daily flock through the Capitol and who never fail to thrill when the ballyhoo man throws up his chest and levels his forefinger and says: "There, late-e-e-z an' gentleman, is 'Uncle Joe' Cannon!"

Lightest of Liquids.

Many experiments here and abroad have shown that liquid hydrogen is by far the lightest of all known liquids. Its density is one-fourteenth that of water, and, curiously enough, this happens to be the same ratio of density that hydrogen in the gaseous state bears to air. For long the lightest liquid known was liquefied marsh gas, which possesses about two-fifths of the density of water.

Flexible English.

I have to sympathize with the criticism which would treat English as a dead language—a thing crystallized at an arbitrarily selected stage of its existence, and bidden to forget that it has a past and deny that it has a future. "Purism," whether in grammar or vocabulary, almost always means ignorance. Language was made before grammar, not grammar before language.—Thomas Hardy.

Quick Repair.

Stain has electricity now and the thoughtful electric light now are doing their best. In every room in a Bangkok hotel is posted a notice in various languages. Its English version reads: "Sir: For the case that your electric light should fail, we beg to send you enclosed a postcard, which please send us at once when you get your light out. The company will then send you another postcard."

COMPERS RALLIES ALL UNION LABOR

Demands Support for Rail Strikers
From "All Americans Who Love Justice"—Calls for Obedience to Law by Strikers.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 19.—Workers throughout the United States were formally appealed to today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor to actively support in every way the striking railroad workers.

The appeal went by unanimous vote of the council to every labor organization in the United States, to every labor publication and to every organized labor man through Federation organizers.

The council, in its appeal, virtually demanded support of the striking railroad men, not only from working people, but from "all Americans who love justice."

The appeal follows:

"We call upon working people everywhere and upon all Americans who love justice, to sustain the cause of the railroad workers who have ceased to work as their only remaining method of protest against an injustice which must rank as one of the most reprehensible which any American industrial or political institution has ever sought to impose."

"No workman, whether a member of a union or not, will, if he is possessed of true American manhood, engage in any work formerly done by men now on strike."

"No man now on strike will, if he is true to the cause, conduct himself in any but a law-abiding manner."

HIDDEN STORES OF ARMS IN GERMANY

Being Turned Up By Allies' Commission—25 Persons Still in Jail For Rathenau Killing—Actual Slayings Dead.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Berlin July 19.—Large stores of arms and ammunition which had been secreted in various parts of Germany are being unearthed, it was revealed today. A big cache of arms, including dum-dum bullets, has just been located at Potsdam. It was reported from Stuttgart that the Inter-Allied military control commission has found 500 machine guns which had been hidden there.

It is reported that some of the arms and ammunition had been collected for revolutionary purposes.

President Richter of the Berlin police department, said that he believed a number of arrests will be made within the next few days in connection with the assassination of Dr. Walter Rathenau, late foreign secretary.

Interest in the murder of the former foreign secretary has been revived by the suicide of the two actual assassins, Herman Fisher and Edwin Kern at Castle Saareck, in Middle Germany.

The Socialists are trying to make unprecedented political capital of the killing of Rathenau. They are continually reiterating the allegation that the Nationalists, (monarchists and militarists) have laid nationwide plans for revolution. The names of Ludendorff, Von Tirpitz and others, are being mentioned in connection with the alleged revolutionary conspiracy.

The police are not convinced that a revolutionary plot was responsible for the assassination of Rathenau.

There are now 25 persons in jail in connection with the assassination.

TAGGING THE BASES IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUES

The Indians are coming, is the 1922 version of the late Mr. Rever's ride. The Speaker entry, ran its string out to nine straight, the longest winning streak of the season, in beating the Athletics 6 to 3. Morton confined the Mack attack to five hits while Wood and Speaker hit home runs with one man aboard.

Glad to escape its inhospitable confines, the Giants departed from St. Louis after losing the finale of the series, 9 to 8. This gave the Cards three out of four and leaves them only half game outside the league lead. It was a free-for-all slugging duel from first to last.

Nicholson went on a hitting spree, smiting two homers off Rixey but the Reds went on winning from the Braves, 9 to 3. Boston's third run was also the result of a homer by Beckel.

In an opera bouffe exhibition the White Sox played schoolboy baseball in losing to the Yankees, 14 to 1. Blankenship, Schupp and Courtney were fanned for twenty hits. Mousel and Witt getting four, in the Yanks' only victory of the series. Hooper got his third home in as many days.

Roy Grimes returned to the Cub lineup after a week's absence and greeted Singleton and Ring with four hits, including a double and a homer, the Cubs beating the Phils thereby 6 to 3.

In spite of a homer with the bases full, by Bobby Veach, the Tigers finished on the short end of a 5 to 5 game with the Red Sox. Burns' single in the eighth summoned Harris to the plate with what proved to be the winning run.

REBELS TO MAKE LAST STAND AT CORK

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 19.—The main body of Republican rebels in southern Ireland are preparing to make their last stand at Cork, according to a Cork dispatch to the Star this afternoon. Guests were ordered from hotels which are being barricaded and turned into fortresses. Building occupying strategic positions are being seized and occupied. The rebels are commandeering all kinds of supplies.

BUFFALO TROLLEY STRIKE DISORDERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 19.—Trolley poles were cut down and switches blocked with stones this morning as part of the violence in Buffalo's street car strike. Sheriff Waldo received a hurry call but when his deputies arrived the men wrecking the property fled.

The first disorder of the day occurred on the Seneca street line where oil drums, paving blocks and rocks had been piled on the tracks.

As the first car came along and stopped, Traffic Superintendent Casey and several men who were riding with him, got out and started to remove the obstacles. They were stoned and several hurt by the flying rocks.

Last night strike sympathizers poured concrete in several switches on the East Side, a favorite trick during the strike of 1913. Garbage cans, paving blocks and other obstacles were piled along the tracks near Titus and Sycamore streets for two or three blocks, but did not seriously halt traffic.

At Guy and Genesee streets two loads of earth dropped on the tracks, were piled up to represent graves, crosses being marked "Mitten" and "Tulley," being placed on top. "Mitten" is the real head of the company, while Tulley is president.

SUMMER HOME AT SAWKILL ROBBED

John Star of New York city, who owns a summer home at Hallahan's Hill, Sawkill, reported to Sheriff Kolts that during his absence last winter someone entered his premises and carried away practically all of the furnishings of the cottage. Under Sheriff Haulenbeek is making an investigation. Last fall the property was closed for the winter season and a few days ago when Mr. Star came up to reopen the house he found that someone had broken into the place and carried away the chairs, tables, dishes, lace curtains, knives and forks and other articles of furniture. The place is practically cleaned out.

COXSACKIE TO MEET COLONIALS NEXT MONTH

The Albany Knickerbocker Press says:

The strong Cocksackie baseball team, with several Albany boys in its lineup, trounced the Kinderhook club of the Columbia county league Sunday afternoon in Cocksackie by the score of 10 to 1. Taylor on the mound for Cocksackie, allowed but one hit.

Bill O'Neill of Albany widely known in Capitol district baseball circles, has been designated booking manager for Saturday and week day games on the road and is anxious to hear from clubs desiring to book a first class attraction. Manager Kniss takes care of Sunday bookings in Cocksackie. Manager O'Neill can be reached by calling main 2431 during the day and main 3188-R, between 5:30 and 7:30 at night.

The lineup of the Cocksackie club consists of Singsteimer, formerly of the Duns, third base; Ray Gault, former Catskill star, shortstop; Artie Coreddan, formerly of the Tigers, Brotherhoods and Garnets, second base; Bill O'Neill, another former Dunn star, first base; Mahoney, formerly of the Brotherhoods, center field; McDermott, Cocksackie boy, left field; Vic Waltz, former Saugerties star, right field; Tom "Pep" Tierney, formerly of the Tigers and Garnets, catcher; "Dutch" Taylor, of Kingston, Lemoreux and Kelly, pitchers. Cocksackie will meet the Colonials of Kingston in a series next month. Last year Cocksackie was one of the few teams to dispose of the Colonials.

President Harding was said to be well pleased with the promptness with which the state executives responded, and with the tone of the replies. They probably will be made public later.

Superstition About Sneezing.

Sneezing was the subject of much superstition in the ancient world, and almost always endowed with sinister import. Jewish folk lore has it that in the first ages of the world sneezing was always a presage of death until the coming of Jacob. That astute patriarch, anxious lest he himself should perish from such an insignificant cause, besought the Almighty to endow sneezing with more beneficent attributes, and since then it has been lucky to sneeze between noon and midnight.

ULSTER'S CHANCES FOR MILBANK DEMONSTRATION

Now In Competition With But Seven Other Counties.

The Ulster County Home Bureau has been advised by the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca that Ulster is one of twelve counties which have been chosen by the State Charities Aid Association for demonstration work in connection with the pending Milbank tuberculosis demonstration. It is learned from other sources that four of these twelve counties have been eliminated and that the suitability of Ulster county for the demonstration and its attendant large expenditure of money will be compared with but seven other counties.

It is expected that the work will be in charge of Joseph Herzstein, who is special agent for the state committee on tuberculosis and public health of the State Charities Aid Association, and the results of the work will have an important bearing on future work along these lines.

In consequence of the important work which is about to be undertaken in Ulster county, Miss Fisher, manager of the Ulster County Home Bureau, will take up detailed plans with organized communities of the county which have been doing health work.

PAINT OR STAIN THE WALLS

Guardians of Health Assert That Paper Retains Vermin and Disease Germs.

Many physicians and sanitarians contend that it is susceptible of proof that certain wall conditions are detrimental to health. They claim that materials pasted on the wall with the vegetable pastes, used for the purpose, may harbor not only vermin, but disease germs. They contend that many of the ills, particularly of children, come from unsanitary wall conditions.

They set forth instances where contagious diseases have been communicated a long time after the rooms were occupied by the diseased party and when the paper was being removed from the wall.

If these things are true, and we have it on good authority that they are, the painting or coloring of walls would seem to be a matter of good judgment on the part of the property owner.

AN EASY WAY TO COLOR LACE

Yellow Ochre Serves Satisfactorily in the Dry Cleaning of Various Articles.

White lace, net, tulle, or anything of similar texture, can quickly be transformed into a cream-white or the fashionable yellow shade in a very simple way. It being a dry-method the lace loses none of its newness, and the most delicate lace may be subjected to this treatment without harm. Put a quantity of ochre (yellow) in a box or paper bag, drop the material inside, and shake the box until the powder has sufficiently coated the lace. After removing the material, shake out any superfluous powder. If a pale tint is wanted, mix rice powder with the ochre. Dainty lace waist-up, take on a new appearance if treated to an ochre bath.

SPRING FASHIONS

A gown of white crepe de chine has panels of fan-plaiting and bands of tiny black roses.

A chiffon frock of rose and blue has crystal and pearl embroidery on the front and skirt.

A vest of white ermine is lined with black velvet and collar and skirted with silver fox.

Luttrell in chenille rope or tulle bias folds of the material is used as a blouse trimming.

A blouse of white crepe is trimmed with olden panels worked in cross-stitch and a frilled jabot.

A frock of red velvet has an overskirt of brown net caught in a chon on one side at the waistline.

A frock of navy blue pique has a collar and sleeve puffs of organdy and is trimmed with narrow metallic braid.

The informal dinner gown is generally long and straight, gathered about the hips, and with long, flowing sleeves.

A vest of beige pique, edgings of ten silk braid, and rows of large buttons lend interest to a dress of navy blue jersey.

Panel of blue are used on the skirt of a dress of silver cloth. The hem-pieces are draped a garland of silver flowers.

A seamless frock of leather-colored kasha cloth is embroidered in chenille and worn with a peasant blouse of cream tulle.

A black crepe frock has its side panels embroidered with a silver leaf vine, green chenille leaves and red velvet flowers.

An excellent hat for the black crepe frock is a huge black satin one drooping under a bunch of violets placed almost in front.

A gown of blue crepe remains in Grecian draperies embroidered in crystal bugles and silver beads and a matching girdle.

A street frock of black crepe remains has a waistcoat effect and cuffs of white crepe remain embroidered in blue soutache braid.

Not only for little girls are there lovely frocks in chenille, but for grown-ups, too. Many of them are in the real English patterns on a light ground dotted with black.

ENLARGING SECTIONS OF AQUEDUCT OF NEW YORK

Pipes in Some Places to Carry Flow From Schoharie.

An editorial in the Newburgh News says:

There appears to be a general lack of understanding about the work being done on the Catskill aqueduct west of Newburgh and on the east shore from Cold Spring south. Some persons think the entire aqueduct between Ashokan and New York City is being enlarged. The News learns that when the Catskill system was built some years ago certain sections through small valleys, where conditions were not favorable for the regular pressure tunnel of concrete, such as Newburgh, were constructed of nearly points, one line of steel pipe of about half the capacity of the concrete was laid and provision made for subsequent laying of one or two additional pipe lines of the same kind. These additional lines are now being installed, and when the work is completed, the aqueduct, which now delivers 250 million gallons a day, will deliver more than 500 million gallons. In other words, the small valley sections of the aqueduct are being brought up to the capacity of other sections. The increased capacity is needed to take care of the additional water from the Schoharie development. The work is providing employment for a great many men. In connection with the improvements to Newburgh's water system, it is helping to make this one of the busiest years in outside construction, this district has known in a long time.

Y. M. C. A. TEAM WINS AT TENNIS

A very exciting and well-played contest Tuesday afternoon at Forsyth Park was won by the Y.M.C.A. boys by a score of 1-2. Four matches of singles were played, each counting one point. Two doubles matches were scheduled but only one was played as after the first, the score was 2-2. As the match played by the first doubles team was to count 2 points, that one was to be decisive. The other, to count 1 point was started, but not finished as it was unnecessary.

The Greenkill boys were supposed to play at 2:30, but, due to a difference in time, the camp being on standard, and Kingston on daylight time, and a blow-out, they did not show up till after 4:00 o'clock.

Mac Fadden, the first to finish, won handily in straight sets against R. Cleaver, 6-3, 6-2. Mac's game was featured by hard back-court driving, both fore and back-hand with an occasional advance to the net when a point was needed. Cleaver's serve was all that could be asked for, a fast slice, both first and second balls swift.

Stelle, second to finish also won in straight sets against Norington, 6-3, 8-6. Stelle's overhead work placement, service and cuts were excellent, but he lacked a speedy drive; his fore-loops lacked punch except when he took the net when his overhead work and steadiness won for him. Norington played a back court game, speculatively its lack of flashy play. He was consistent and this consistency won for him the power to duce the set from a 5-3 disadvantage.

Those, third man through, lost in straight sets to Nitchy, 1-0, 3-6. Rose played a steady back-court game, but his drives were netted, his lob was wild and his steadiness and placement, usually responsible for his victories were useless against the excellent net-work of the Greenkill man. Nitchy's service was excellent.

Brown had a tussle with his man, Pilat, but ended on the wrong end of the score, forcing the match to its full number of sets, 6-8, 6-3, 7-9. Brown played an uphill game and did his best to win. He is to be congratulated on his showing. Despite the fact that his opponent touched a good 6 ft. 1 in., the diminutive one took the net one almost every point and held it against a steady rain of drives and loob, often going high into the air for a smash. Brown's drive were excellent and his service fair, he scored few aces but almost no doubt faults. The reason he lost was because he met a man whose playing was unannouncedly consistent. Pilat played a fine steady game.

Mac Fadden and Captain Stelle were matched against Nitchy and Cleaver as first doubles team and won the match and tournament by coming from behind and winning, 3-7, 6-7, 5-5. The Greenkill fellows played 4-1 before the "Y" fellows got started. Showing the brand of tennis that Mac has made both winners. Mac and Stelle pulled up to a 5-3 set, but lost out at 7-5. The next set, despite the score, was a long and hard-fought one. Stelle played out and held it through long rallies for smashes which usually won points. Mac Fadden's service through it all was spectacular and he did not lose one game at it throughout the whole afternoon. The Greenkill fellows showed fine service and often had Kingston guessing, but a steady rain of drives and placements as Cleaver resulted in his losing his nerve and the set, 6-5.

The third set was comparatively short as the Greenkill boys were disrupted and inclined to quarrel. Mac and his partner ran up a 5-2 lead, and, after dropping one game ran the set and match, on quite a service.

The "Y" boys played fine tennis and the finish, accompanied by Greenkill's collapse, was highly spectacular and unexpected.

The match of Brown and Rose vs. Pilat and Norington was played up to the first set, 6-4, favor of the "Y" and then stopped as has been previously explained.
